Company Profile

Ashbourne Meat Processors is one of Ireland's leading beef processors, exporting premium chilled Irish beef all over Europe and indeed the world since 1985 from cattle sourced locally at our abattoir in Roscrea, Co. Tipperary.

The company was established by Jim McMahon and Danny Houlihan in 1985, both of whom worked in Irish Meat Processors as Sales Manager and Factory Manager respectively.

The company still remains today managed and controlled by the Houlihan and McMahon family.

Ashbourne Meat Processors employ nearly 200 people and operates from the following facilities:

Here are Ashbourne Meat Processors, we are supplying premium chilled and frozen beef products to leading retailers, manufacturers and distributors throughout Europe, Russia, Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Our commitment over the last three decades has seen our business continue to expand, through our dedicated expertise and knowledge passed down from one generation to another.

With more cattle on the horizon and more markets opening up we are going to need more skilled people to match the Foodwise 2025 vision for the Irish Beef Industry.
